TECH BIZSOLUTIONS EARNS GOLD DEVELOPER STATUS FOR QUICKBOOKS® SOFTWARE

GovCalc® System for Government Contractors Accommodates Critical Reporting Functions

Longmont, CO

Tech BizSolutions of Longmont, Colorado, earned Gold Developer status from Intuit Inc. for its superior support for QuickBooks accounting software. The Tech BizSolutions GovCalc system, designed to accommodate government accounting regulations, passed a rigorous testing process to ensure quality and integration with QuickBooks Pro, Premier and Enterprise financial software.

Converting QuickBooks files using the GovCalc system gives government contractors the ability to pass critical governmental review and audit processes, a major hurdle for many small businesses.

"Our system opens up a huge opportunity for our small and medium size clients," said Tech BizSolutions President Brian Sperry, "in particular government contractors just getting started."

Government requirements

Federal Acquisition Regulations (FAR) require an "approved" accounting system for contractors having cost-reimbursement type contracts or ones providing progress payment financing. The government imposes precise rules surrounding accounting systems and operations in this contracting environment. Specifically, the FAR requires job cost accounting and development of indirect expense rates.

The government deploys auditors to examine contractor accounting systems and make recommendations for approval to contracting officers. Caught unprepared, many first-time government contractors are temporarily barred from lucrative contract opportunities.

"Many small and medium size businesses use QuickBooks financial software since it is one of the most affordable and easiest-to-use desktop accounting software on the market," explained Sperry. "The Tech BizSolutions GovCalc system is equally affordable and as scalable as QuickBooks."
